County's Health Commissioner discusses new variant

By Kate Goldsmith

You've no doubt heard (and possibly been irked by) the following statement, or some variation thereof, uttered (justifiably) by officials for some time now:

"We may be done with the pandemic, but the pandemic is not done with us."

A spring reprieve? Not so fast. After leveling off following soaring infections in fall and winter, active cases have been rising for the last month or so in the Northeast and right here in Dutchess County. A highly transmissible sub-variant of omicron called BA.2 is the latest culprit; the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recently estimated that more than 90 percent of all new COVID cases in the Northeast are caused by BA.2.

That said, hospitalizations and deaths – these are called "lagging indicators" because they don't start rising until several weeks into a new wave – are still relatively low. Does this suggest that BA.2 is milder than previous variants?

And how should we interpret data such as active cases? With the prevalence of home testing, there's no way to know how many positive results (or negative results, for that matter) are actually being reported.

Last week, we spoke to Dr. Livia Santiago-Rosado, MD, FACEP, Commissioner of the Dutchess County Department of Behavioral and Community Health (DBCH), about these and other questions. Her answers reflected a watchful, respectful approach to a virus that truly isn't done with us yet.

Q: We seem to be at a place now where, although cases are increasing due to the highly contagious omicron sub-variant, hospitalizations and deaths are not reflecting that trend. Does this point to a sub-variant that is even milder, relatively speaking, than the omicron variant seen in the U. S. this past fall and winter?

"I think that's a complicated question. I don't know that we can make that assertion," said Dr. Santiago-Rosado. "The data we have does not suggest that it's milder than omicron; [the virus is] encountering a more protected population, through vaccination and [previously infected] people."

She encouraged taking measures to increase the chances that, if infected, you can get through it without severe illness or hospitalization.

"Get a booster, a second booster if you're eligible," she said. "It's all creating a wall for that variant to hit. Its effects are going to be lessened."

Q: What are the hallmarks of this sub-variant, in terms of symptoms and contagiousness? I've heard it's as contagious as measles.

"There are multiple BA.2 sub-variants, a whole family tree of sub-variants, that are all particularly transmissible,

The Beacon Players to go 'Into the Woods'

By Kristine Coulter

"Into the Woods," the musical fairy tale with music and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim and book by James Lapine, will be performed by Beacon High School's drama club, The Beacon Players. Performances are slated for April 29, 30 and May 1 at Beacon High School, 101 Matteawan Road, in Beacon. Ticket prices range from $15 for adults to $10 for students and seniors.

Performance times are, Friday and Saturday at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday at 2 p.m.

There will be a family-friendly performance, of Act 1 only (when everyone is happy), at 1 p.m. on April 30. This performance is for children 12 and younger. Children must be accompanied by an adult, one adult for up to 4 children. Children must be accompanied by an adult, one adult for up to 4 children. One must register and buy tickets at in Beacon. Tickets are on sale now online at www.beaconplayers.com.

"It is absolutely exhilarating," said Anthony Scarrone, Director of The Beacon Players, watching these young people take on Stephen Sondheim's score. He said "they have worked extremely hard and watching this show develop has become one of the highlights of the work that we do. This is an ensemble show where everyone gets a chance to shine and it truly reaches levels that has moved each actor to new levels."

Zoe Moreno, a ninth grader at Beacon High School, plays Cinderella's stepmother. "I think the show is beautifully written, with many catchy songs, and some unforgettable moments throughout the show. I love how we get a taste of every fairy tale story in Act 1, and then see how everything unfolds in Act 2," said Zoe.

Scarrone noted, "The first act is funny and filled with light moments and it's true to many of the stories and ends on a happy note as they get closer to their goals. Act 2 becomes darker as things become more challenging in they faced with the decisions that are not that easy to make. It is clearly up to parents and guardians to research a bit and decide whether it is appropriate for their children."

Max Goodhill plays "The Wolf" in the show.

"I think that "Into the Woods" is one of the most interesting takes on fairy tales. It also subverts all expectations from Act 1 to Act 2 as well." "Into the Woods" is great and entertaining for most audiences. That's why I think people should watch it, it's funny yet still heartfelt with serious themes and subtle comedy," said Max.

What would Scarrone say about those students who are working on the show behind the scenes?

"What would the Sistine Chapel look without its ceiling? What would a circus be without clowns dressed in their elaborate outfits, a stage or a concert would be in the dark without light and without a sound crew we would hear nothing and what would a magician pull out of his hat? Clearly it is absolutely imperative that theater would be nothing without the behind-the-scenes people that make it what it is and make it as glorified as it is," he said.

Renegades' pitching off to record-setting start

By Rich Thomaselli

People might dig the longball, as the old baseball commercial used to say, but pitching wins games.

And the Hudson Valley Renegades' pitching has been absolutely scorching, a trend that has been evident through the first 15 games of the season and not just on Sunday.

Six Hudson Valley Renegades pitchers combined to two-hit the Brooklyn Cyclones in a 3-0 triumph on Sunday afternoon at Dutchess Stadium and it was just the latest outstanding pitching performance by the team.

The combined two-hitter was the second two-hitter thrown by the Renegades in the series, and came on the heels of a one-hitter on Saturday.

Renegades President Steve Gliner is not surprised.

Gliner said weeks ago that while the emphasis in the Yankees' organization has been on its player prospects, such as Anthony Volpe, Oswald Peraza and Jasson

Wellington Diaz was one of six pitchers who combined to shut out the Brooklyn Cyclones, 3-0, on Sunday afternoon at Dutchess Stadium.

Presentation on possible design for fire house consolidation process

By Kristine Coulter

The City Council heard from Bob Mitchell, of Bob Mitchell and Associates, about the consolidation of the fire houses. The presentation was about the need for the consolidation process.

“Bob Mitchell is an architect working with the City of Beacon on the consolidation process of three first houses to one, eventually,” said Beacon City Administrator Chris White.

It was noted by White that Mitchell has a full-time staff that is dedicated to fire-houses and their design.

“He really goes down in to how the fire department has to comply,” said White.

“This one is getting us all the way there (with the design),” stated Mayor Lee Kyriacou.

The projects goals said Mitchell are to centralize staff and equipment, operational correct and efficient, firefighter health and safety. Also, part of the goals are: enhance morale, user-friendly building, energy efficient, access to training to all levels, and transition from primarily volunteer to paid. Mitchell explained that it will go from 3 bays to 5 bays, update firematic standards, provide decontamination capability, improve energy efficiency, go from 4 to 6 bedrooms and enhance the appearance of the building.

It was shown that in 2006 the initial consolidation study was done. In 2010, an operational analysis of service was done. A consolidation Plan was given in 2014. Two years later, 2016, there was a facility condition report. In 2017 and 2018 there was an analysis of sites and consolidation study. Then in 2019 a consolidation study to go from 3 to 2.

“It will be an all-electric building,” said

Mitchell, of the fire station, which is the Lewis Tompkins Hose station off of Route 9D. He said the current mechanical system is archaic and inefficient.

According to Mitchell, the building is to “last many generations.” Some of the standard features would be high insulation values, airtight construction, heat recovery ventilation, heat pumps for air and water, variable frequency pumps and daylighting.

Some of the reasons mentioned by Mitchell for the consolidation of the stations were: more efficient use of space, increased range of services, additional required equipment, more training, codes and standards (such as lateral forces, health, safety and training, egress) gender equity, and bigger apparatus.

“There will be discussion and community input before the design is finalized,” Mitchell stated.

“The overall project is to completely gut renovate the existing 10,000 square foot standing and build a new 6,000 square foot on it, which is roughly the square footage of Mase and also redo the parking lot next door that’s a gravel parking lot, not only as a public lot but would have dedicated spaces for the fire department.

White noted Beacon Engine was closed as part of the process going from three to two stations.

“If you want to move your fire service in to a modern, efficient service, this is really the next move,” remarked White to the Council.

City of Beacon Fire Chief Gary Van Voorhis stated during the meeting, “I’m excited that we’re not just building a fire house, but making it fit into the city.”

probably mirroring measles transmissibility,” Dr. Santiago-Rosado said, “but there have been so many layers [of protection]; it’s becoming very difficult to predict all these variables.”

Noting that BA.2 is “certainly very transmissible,” Dr. Santiago-Rosado advises that people continue the familiar mitigation efforts, “anything that we can do to tamp down the possibility of transmission, and if there is transmission to be [as safe as possible],” she said.

Q: With the increase of home-testing, how accurate a picture are we getting of active cases?

“They’re much more difficult to interpret, because we don’t know what we don’t know,” Dr. Santiago-Rosado said. “I don’t know how many people are taking home tests and testing positive and not reporting [or how many are testing negative]. The best we can do is look at the trends more than the specific numbers.

“But when we do look at the trends, certainly since the second or third week of March we’ve seen a steady increase [in active cases and community transmission] ... but as you noted we have not seen the [increase in] hospitalization and deaths,” said Dr. Santiago-Rosado. “That’s certainly hopeful, but I would still stay cautious.”

Accessibility to and availability of antiviral medications could be one reason for lower hospitalizations and deaths.

“Some of those testing positive might be hopefully reaching out to their primary care physician,” she said.

Dr. Santiago-Rosado noted that the BA.2 sub-variant is breaking off into “sub-sub-variants, [and] we don’t know if they’re going to behave differently.”

Protecting ourselves as much as possible is key, she said.

The Health Commissioner referenced the low rate of pediatric vaccination. While she understands that parents are weighing the risks and benefits of vaccinating their children, it’s still a concern.

Q: In light of the situation as it stands, what advice do you have for the public, with regard to mitigation strategies such as mask-wearing, and attending indoor gatherings?

“We’re pretty much adhering to recommendations by the CDC and the state,” said Dr. Santiago-Rosado. “The CDC came up with their paradigm of low, medium, high community levels [see the sidebar on this page for details]. As long as we’re remaining in the low category, for those people who it makes sense to mask anyway, it would still be advisable; otherwise it’s an observation thing. Assess your possible risk and the situation that you’re in. Kind of watch and wait.”

She added a caveat.

“But if these cases continue to go up, there’s certainly a possibility that we’ll be hitting moderate and even high categories again. If we reach high community levels, we’d definitely start masking anywhere indoors, limiting numbers of people [at gatherings], but that’s more when you get into the high community level,” she said. “I want people to be aware of that, though ... I would hate for people to think it was coming out of nowhere. It’s something we’re watching, and we want to stay ahead of this.”

Q: Is there anything else you’d like to add?

“[I’d like] to reiterate the importance of those vaccines and boosters,” said Dr. Santiago-Rosado. “For some people it may be a while since they had their first vaccination series.”

She recommends talking to one’s primary care physician to determine the best way to proceed.

How the CDC measures COVID-19 Community Levels

The CDC looks at the combination of three metrics — new COVID-19 admissions per 100,000 population in the past 7 days, the percent of staffed inpatient beds occupied by COVID-19 patients, and total new COVID-19 cases per 100,000 population in the past 7 days — to determine the COVID-19 community level. New COVID-19 admissions and the percent of staffed inpatient beds occupied represent the current potential for strain on the health system. Data on new cases acts as an early warning indicator of potential increases in health system strain in the event of a COVID-19 surge.

Using these data, the COVID-19 community level is classified as low, medium, or high. See <https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/science/community-levels.html> for specific metrics.

Molinaro presents 2022 State of the County

Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro presented his 2022 State of the County Address on April 20 at the Stissing Center in Pine Plains, as residents, business and nonprofit leaders, as well as local and state officials, attended to hear the County Executive's vision for the coming year.

"The state of Dutchess County remains strong, as our County has overcome unforeseen obstacles and come through the other side more united and robust than ever," County Executive Molinaro told the more guests in attendance. "Today we are poised for more growth and prosperity because of our decade-long commitment to smart, fiscally conservative and compassionate government. To continue along this path, we must redouble our efforts to keep Dutchess County safe and affordable, creating opportunities and optimism for every County resident."

During his address, the County Executive highlighted priorities for Dutchess County in 2022:

Affordability

Since taking office in January 2012, County Executive Molinaro has employed sound, conservative fiscal leadership to not only close the $40 million budget gap Dutchess County Government faced when he began his tenure, but bring the County's fund balance to $60 million entering 2022.

In light of recent inflation, the highest the nation and county have experienced in four decades, Dutchess County remains committed to fiscal responsibility that cuts costs and delivers relief, whenever possible. County Executive Molinaro has provided local residents unprecedented tax relief in 2022, including the eighth straight property tax reduction, cutting the tax levy by $5.5 million – the largest tax cut in County history – and the seventh consecutive property tax rate decrease for homeowners and businesses, cutting the rate by 10 percent, all without reducing services to residents.

This year, the County Executive led the way with additional tax relief for residents and businesses, including:

- Elimination of County tax on clothing and footwear items up to $110, becoming only the ninth county in the state and the first in the Hudson Valley to provide such relief;
- Cutting and capping the County tax on gasoline, limiting the County tax on fuel to just $.08 per gallon, no matter the purchase; and
- Continuing to fund the County's Municipal Innovation Grant (MIG) program, which in 2022 focuses on projects that improve quality of life, and strengthen and develop communities, reducing residents' local taxes through shared services.

Dutchess County spends 28 percent less per capita than the statewide county average; has a tax levy that is 27 percent lower per capita than the statewide county average; and has outstanding debt that is 50 percent lower per capita than the statewide county average. Additionally, Standard & Poor's has again reaffirmed Dutchess County's AA+ bond rating, the highest among any county in New York.

Safety

During these times, Molinaro has supported the safety of Dutchess County residents, including urging State leaders to change the bail system and discovery rules, which have led to an increase in crime.

To further safeguard County residents, Molinaro has renewed his commitment to protect by dedicating resources and funding to programs and initiatives that provide for public safety, including:

- Partnering with Westchester Medical Center Health Network to develop a state-of-the-art behavioral health Center for Excellence bringing 60 mental health professionals and in-patient beds to create one of the largest behavioral health systems in New York State;
- Investing opioid settlement funds to develop the Law Enforcement Assisted Diversion (LEAD) program, a community-based diversion approach which focuses on a harm-reduction/housing-first framework which allows officers to re-direct low-level offenders engaged in drug or other risky activity to community-based services, instead of jail and prosecution;
- Expanding the successful Intensive Treatment Alternatives Program (ITAP), an alternative to incarceration for those in the grip of substance use disorder;
- Supporting the overall health of the community with a mobile vehicle, planned for deployment later this year, which will bring operations to every region of the County, offering immunizations, case work, sexually transmitted disease testing and education, veterans counseling, group sessions, referrals to community providers and more;
- Investing $10 million in American Rescue Plan (ARP) funding for the design and development of a new, consolidated two-way radio system for first responders, which will replace outdated and uncoordinated two-way radio systems utilized by various emergency services throughout the County, providing all agency interoperability and a reduction in costs for most emergency services;
- Allocating $4 million for this year's MIG program, which prioritizes fire and rescue agencies, including municipal, non-profit and established fire districts, to enhance their capacity and ability to respond to emergencies;
- Investing more than $2 million to purchase three vehicles critical to the Department of Emergency Response's mission of preparing and responding to emergencies in the community, including a new state-of-the-art Mobile Communication Command Post vehicle;
- Increasing the diversity of the applicant pool for local law-enforcement agencies, which resulted in a record number of applicants for a recent police officer examination, as well as diversity in the latest graduating class from the Dutchess County Law Enforcement Academy; and
- Building on the Re-Entry Stabilization Transition and Reintegration Track (RESTART) program at the Dutchess County Jail to establish the Re-Entry Community Housing and Resource Guided Empowerment (RECHARGE) program, which provides individuals housed in the jail who are at high risk for re-offending with safe and secure housing, case management and employment assistance.

Opportunity

Earlier this month, the County released its 2022 Housing Needs Assessment (HNA), an extensive report detailing countywide demographic and housing data, an evaluation of housing trends over recent years and projections for affordable housing needs over the next 20 years. To address the housing gaps identified in the HNA and help eliminate them, Dutchess County is dedicating $20 million in ARP funds to invest in several interventions, including, among others:

- The creation of a housing trust fund, with a recommended initial funding of at least $2 million per year, which will be a valuable source of flexible funding to aid the implementation of a variety of affordable housing efforts;
- Offset the costs of new or upgraded infrastructure, such as water and sewer, to ensure the viability of mixed-income housing developments; and
- Identifying sites that would be suitable locations for multi-family developments and ensure those locations are properly zoned for such development; such sites include those with access to household services, alternative forms of transportation and other necessary infrastructure, such as water and sewer.

Molinaro also elaborated on the County's plan to use ARP funds to build a countywide emergency housing facility, which will provide both temporary housing and wrap-around services for those experiencing homelessness all under one roof, transforming the County's emergency housing response system. Based on a nationally acclaimed model in Bergen County, N.J., Dutchess County's facility will be based on a core philosophy of moving individuals to permanent housing by offering evidence-based programs and intensive case-management services – including, among others, addiction and substance use counseling, mental health and domestic violence counseling, Behavioral Evaluation & Assessment Team (BEAT) and community policing, financial and job assistance and faith-based connections – to help them secure and maintain stable accommodations. The County Legislature will vote on this solution approach at its May board meeting.

Among other efforts to create opportunities for local residents, Dutchess County has undertaken:

- Dedicating $25 million, including $10 million in ARP funds, to the construction and development of a countywide Youth Opportunity Union, the YOU, located in the City of Poughkeepsie:

- Investing $4.1 million in the successful Learn, Play, Create: Supporting Our Kids grant program, which provides one-time grants awards to local non-profit organizations that serve children and families and were negatively impacted due to the COVID-19 pandemic, including $3 million which funded 147 projects in 2021;
- Engaging in accurately mapping internet access throughout Dutchess County and completing a strategic plan for high-speed internet access across the County;
- Investing $1.2 million in ARP funding to establish and equip the Mechatronics Lab at DCC Fishkill, which will provide local students a comprehensive classroom, laboratory, and on-the-job learning program to train them to install, alter, troubleshoot, repair, and maintain electronic, mechanical, computer, control systems and components;
- Continuation of the successful Think Ahead college program, which will graduate its fourth cohort of Dutchess Community College (DCC) students with intellectual and developmental disabilities at DCC's graduation in May; and
- Investing $180,000 to fund various summer youth programming, including summer youth employment, through the County's Agency Partner Grant program.

More information about Molinaro's 2022 State of the County Address, including video of his remarks is available on Dutchess County's website. The County Executive invites residents to participate in conversations about the 2022 State of the County at town hall forums to be held over the next several weeks, including:

Why local school board elections matter

To the Editor:

The Mid-Hudson region bears the unfortunate distinction of currently being the only area in New York where school boards have voted to ban books from public school curricula and libraries, according to PEN America’s Freedom to Write Index. The Yorktown School District in Putnam County has banned 10 books; the Wappingers Central School District in Dutchess County has banned one book; the Marlboro School District in Ulster County has banned two.

In two of the three districts, the books - of which all received national awards for literary merit and deemed appropriate for teens by the American Library Association - were banned only after a member of the Florida-based “parental rights” group Moms for Liberty, which recently opened chapters in Putnam, Dutchess and Orange County, demanded their removal. That organization’s website reveals that its members deliberately target local school districts. If school board members fail to do what they want (kudos to the Arlington School Board for recently refusing to kowtow to a Moms for Liberty member’s ban-this-book request), the activists promise to replace school board members with their own candidates.

While calls to censor the teaching of certain concepts and books they claim “indoc-trinate children in sexual perversion and the need for social justice” is just the latest tactic far-right lawmakers and activists have embraced to energize their base, school boards are meant to be nonpartisan, focusing solely on serving the best interests of all students and not on advancing any political agenda. Mid-Hudson residents can help ensure that our local school board members remain nonpartisan by carefully reviewing each candidate’s statement on their school district’s website before voting in school board elections on May 17.

According to the National School Boards Association, as few as five percent of reg-istered voters participate in school board elections. It’s a mistake to let a tiny minority of residents determine the composition and direction of Dutchess County’s 13 school boards when those votes impact the future of more than 46,000 students and their families.

Finally, children and teens alike continue to struggle to get back on track academi-cally after the disruption of the pandemic. As such, public school teachers, administra-tors, and school boards desperately need our support. That alone should be enough of a reason to vote on May 17.

Maloney should meet with U.S. border agents

To the Editor:

May I suggest that Sean Patrick Maloney (NY-18 D) who was featured in the photo-op “Maloney meets with Ukrainian leaders, U.S. troops” relating to the Russian invasion of the Ukraine be followed up by Rep. Maloney with a visit to investigate the invasion at our southern border, perhaps around the very active Rio Grande or Del Rio areas.

May I suggest that he meet with the beleaguered Border Patrol Agents who have had over 2,000,000 contacts with illegal immigrants in the past 12 months, including 221,000 migrant encounters in March alone, an all-time record. “These do not include those who have entered without contact nor does it consider the record deaths and drug addictions that result from the drug cartels who have taken advantage of the ‘Open Border’ policy.”

According to Customs and Border Protection data, 23 individuals on the Terror Watch list were apprehended during the past year! One may only speculate how many others invaded without detection. May I also suggest that he acquaint himself with the early morning, secret flights that distribute these immigrants to their selected areas (at taxpayer expense), including the Westchester County airport.

As a final suggestion, a Town Hall Meeting should be scheduled to discuss his findings with the voting public to evaluate this important issue in connection with the upcoming mid-term elections.

Statement from Dutchess County Veterans Services Director Adam Roche

The following remarks were offered by Director Roche at the April 21 “Hudson Valley Veteran Services” public forum held at the VFW 8645 in New Paltz, which included comments on the possible closure of Castle Point:

“Thank you for inviting us and allowing me to speak on behalf of Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro and the veterans of Dutchess County and their families today. County Executive Molinaro sends his best and regrets he cannot be here today due to a previously scheduled engagement.

On behalf of Dutchess County’s veterans, who County Executive Molinaro represent, and who I work with every day as the Director of Veterans Services, I am here to express our collective frustration with the federal government’s lack of transparency, and our opposition to the proposal outlined in the Asset and Infrastructure Review Commission Report.

Dutchess County has been a willing and able partner in the mission to protect and honor our veterans. For years, we’ve had an excellent working relationship with Castle Point and local organizations like our VFWs, Hudson River Housing, Mental Health America of Dutchess County and so many more.

We’ve funded projects like our Housing, Employment, Reintegration and Outreach (or HERO) program, the Tom Zurhellen Fund, and the Vet Zero ride program. The Vet Zero ride program, by the way, offers veterans FREE rides to appointments at Castle Point. Dutchess County has always been a boots-on-the-ground partner of the VA, and of Castle Point. And as such, we want and demand a seat at the table whenever changes to the services our veterans depend on are being planned, especially when we are talking about such a monumental shift in programming and policy.

County Executive Molinaro delivered his State of the County address last night, during which he re-affirmed our commitment to our veterans with several new initiatives (including even more funding for the Vet Zero ride program) as well as opposition to this shortsighted plan. We stand with our veterans and demand there be no reduction in the physical and mental health services offered in Dutchess County and veterans can continue to access the services they depend on.

To that end, I’d like to invite everyone here, including both of you, [Ulster] County Executive (Pat) Ryan and Congressman (Antonio) Delgado, to our Veterans forum we had already previously scheduled with the VA on April 30th at the Poughkeepsie Elks Lodge.

Dutchess County, will continue to fight for, advocate for, and support our veterans community in every way possible. We will not abandon the men and women who have served us, as the federal government seems so keen on doing with the current propos-al. Dutchess County is prepared to take legal action, if necessary, to keep the services veterans have come to rely on in our community.”

DISPATCHES FROM THE VFW

by Tom Zurhellen

The future of Castle Point

Unless you’ve been completely isolated over the past few weeks, you know what most folks in our veteran community have been talking about recently: the news of the potential closure of the VA Hospital at Castle Point, which is located in Dutchess County and serves thousands of veterans who live all over the Hudson Valley. The news has certainly provoked a bit of anger and confusion among our veteran population, but of course, it’s important to have a full understanding of any issue before we react to it. Now I’m certainly not an expert in any sense, but I do feel like I have gained a good amount of perspective on this particular issue.

In March, the Veterans Administration (VA) released a report detailing recommendations for its medical facilities across the country, including our VA Hospital located here at Castle Point. Specifically, the report recommended Castle Point be replaced by a more modern facility to be built in the area; notably, the new proposed facility would not offer all the services now provided at Castle Point. Veterans who need those services not provided at the new facility would have to travel down to Montrose in Westchester County, or else receive those services through a private provider. The time frame recommended in the report for this transition to occur was five years.

As you might expect, many veterans have become critical of this proposed change. Veterans generally don’t like change, and it can take a very long time for a veteran to trust a doctor, nurse, or a medical facility. Furthermore, veterans might be wary of their care being transferred to a private practice because outside medical professionals are not trained to deal with the unique circumstances veterans have in their health care, especially their mental health care.

The veterans I’ve talked to about this potential closure at Castle Point all have shared their frustration with this news. They feel like the VA is looking at the financial benefits of closing an old facility that was built in 1923, without first looking at the impact that change would have on the veterans who depend on this facility every single day.

One added issue that many folks haven’t thought about with this proposed change is transportation. Our VetZero Heroes ride program gives free rides to veterans, and most of those rides are to Castle Point; the program is trying to keep up with demand now. However, if you ask our veterans to transfer their care to a variety of private providers, near and far – well, you can see how much more challenging transportation would become if Castle Point closed. We would need a better transportation solution for such a massive change.

I can understand the VA wanting to build a more modern facility in Dutchess County to replace Castle Point. That makes sense in some ways, since the number of veterans in America will continue to decline in the decades to come. But today, the thousands of veterans who see Castle Point as a sort of second home feel forgotten. I think we should always think of our veterans first, and in this case, it seems like the VA was thinking about efficiency rather than the human cost of such a change. That’s just one veteran’s opinion, though.

Thankfully, many of our local leaders have also used their voices to express the veteran community’s disappointment with this recommendation from the VA. We’ll have to wait and see if the VA’s recommendation becomes reality. Personally, I hope it doesn’t.

Thanks for listening! See you next time!

PSC announces 329 as new area code for portions of Dutchess and other counties

The New York State Public Service Commission (Commission) announced that residential, business and wireless customers within the existing 845 area code region (Columbia, Delaware, Dutchess, Greene, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan, Ulster, and Westchester counties) should begin to prepare for the introduction of the new 329 area code, as early as the third quarter of 2023.

To meet the increasing demand for residential and business phone numbers, the Commission, on April 14, approved a new area code to be added to the current 845 area code that serves all or parts of Columbia, Delaware, Dutchess, Greene, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan, Ulster, and Westchester counties. Beginning the third quarter of 2023, customers in the existing 845 area code requesting new service, an additional line, or a move in the location of their service, may be assigned a number in the new 329 area code, according to the PSC in a press release.

Existing customers in the 845-area code will not be affected by the new overlay area code. An overlay area code is the most effective possible use of numbering resources in the 845-area code region and results in long-term relief, with the least expense, and the least amount of disruption and frustration to consumers as possible. Customers will retain their current telephone numbers, and 10-digit dialing for local calls will continue. The overlay area code will be assigned to newly issued telephone numbers in the region once all existing 845 telephone numbers are exhausted, and will apply to all telephone numbers, regardless of service type. Customers will retain their current telephone numbers, and 10-digit dialing for local calls will continue. The new area code is projected to provide telephone numbering relief for approximately 28 years, according to the PSC.

What consumers and businesses need to know about the upcoming 845 area code overlay are:

- Current telephone numbers, including current area code, will not change.

- The price of a call, coverage area, or other rates and services will not change due to the overlay.

- What is a local call now will continue to remain a local call.

- Calls between 329 and 845 area codes are local calls.

- Consumers will continue to dial the area code + telephone number for all calls to other area codes.

- Calls to reach 911 Emergency Service will remain three digits.

The Commission’s rulings in this proceeding may be obtained by going to the Commission Documents section of the Commission’s Web site at www.dps.ny.gov and entering Case Number 21-C-0600 in the input box labeled "Search for Case/Matter Number". Many libraries offer free Internet access. Commission documents may also be obtained from the Commission’s Files Office, 14th floor, Three Empire State Plaza, Albany, NY 12223 (518-474- 2500). Renegades' pitching off to strong start

Dominguez, the farm system has been blessed with some tremendous pitching arms as well.

“We had 49 strikeouts in three games. I don’t know for sure, but it has to be a team record, at least in our history,” Gliner said. “It’s not entirely surprising but from a standpoint of the game, yeah it’s indicative of the organization as well. Great pitching is coming down the pike.”

Hudson Valley pitchers combined to strike out 56 Brooklyn batters in the first four games of the current series, setting a new season-high for the staff in each of the first two nights (17 Tuesday, 18 Wednesday). In 2021, the Renegades struck out 17-or-more batters in a game five times, including a season-high of 18 three times. Notably, two of those three games came against Brooklyn

(5/22 @ BRK, 9/9 @ HV). In 2021, the Renegades struck out 408 Cyclones, a rate of 11.81 K/9. With 152 strikeouts through 13 games, Hudson Valley ranks third among all High-A teams in strikeouts, trailing only Aberdeen (166) and Rome (163).

Hudson Valley pitching has been so dominant of late, it has combined to log 21.0 consecutive scoreless innings dating back to the seventh inning on Friday night, a Yankees-era team record. The back-to-back shutout wins are a first for the team since June 10 and 11, 2021, when the ‘Gades shut out the Brooklyn Cyclones in consecutive games at Maimonides Park.

The Renegades were off on Monday before welcoming the Wilmington Blue Rocks to Dutchess Stadium on Tuesday, April 26, for a six-game homestand.

Renegades wrap up opening homestand with 3-0 victory

By Rich Thomaselli

Six Hudson Valley Renegades pitchers combined to two-hit the Brooklyn Cyclones in a 3-0 triumph on Sunday afternoon at Dutchess Stadium.

Blane Abeyta started for the Renegades by firing 4.0 hitless innings, striking out five and not issuing a walk. Rodney Hutchison (1-1) followed with a perfect inning in back of him. Wellington Diaz, Michael Giacone and Nelson Alvarez all added to the pace with scoreless innings of work, and Alex Mauricio earned his first career save, shutting the door in the ninth.

After opening the season with a nine-game road trip in which they went 4-5, the Renegades – the High Class A farm team of the New York Yankees – came back to The Dutch for the first time in 2022.

They won their home opener on Tuesday and took four of the six games against the Cyclones and improved to 8-7 on the young season.

The Renegades took the lead in the bottom of the first inning on a sacrifice fly from Tyler Hardman scoring Austin Wells, who had doubled earlier in the inning. They tacked on another run in the bottom of the third on an RBI single by Cooper Bowman.

Aldenis Sanchez finished the game 3-for-4 as Hudson Valley rapped out nine hits in the game.

GLINER’S KORNER!

Renovated suites and improving the fan experience

Every week, Hudson Valley Renegades President Steve Gliner sits down with reporter Rich Thomaselli to discuss the team in particular and minor league baseball in general

So you opened up the 2022 home season on Tuesday (April 19) against Brooklyn. What were your first impressions?

The ballpark looks great. That’s he first thing. New ownership has given us some new resources to improve the fan experience. We moved the whole fence line out and created a whole new interior space. We moved the inflatables to the front area, upgraded the suites, and the new signage in the ballpark is much cleaner. Opening night was cold and windy though, so we’re really looking forward to these Sunday 2:05 p.m. games (laughs). Overall, it was just good to get the park open and get the people back in the building.

Anything that you noticed that needs revising, or changing, or needs to be worked on?

Nothing major, maybe just operational-ly. It’s no different than the players, you have to work things out as the season goes along.

You’ve mentioned a couple of times now so far in the early season during our chats about the suites being renovated. Talk a little about that.

The suites are much fully renovated - new cabinetry, new countertops, new painting, new lighting, everything except for the windows and the floors. We did it in all eight suites. Now we have the Sensory Suite available and so far every family that has been up there has loved it. We have two suites that are rented out season-long, a couple of others that are shared, and a few that are for individual game purposes. As the season progresses the usage gets better. I think since it’s still April, we’re still going through a little bit of an education in the market and we’ve heard from people this week who said they didn’t know we were already playing. They’re so used to us starting in June like we did for 25-plus years that part of our market outreach has to include that we’re open for business right now.

I think I already know the answer to this question, but how much of the game did you watch on Opening Night? Or even at all during this first week of the homestand?

A little here and there. Not a full game. Certainly not as much as I would like to.

Now that the team has come back home after opening with nine games on the road, how has your interaction been with the new manager?

Oh, Tyson (Blaser) is great. Again because of the way the protocols are and not as tight as they were last year, I have access to the team. We’ve had more one-on-one contact. I’m very much a one-on-one contact type of person and I like to do that instead of a phone call. He’s very good to work with. He’s very appreciative of everything we do. On the flip side, he’s been very good with helping us, whether it’s with media or a meet-and-greet with fans.

The heavy lines indicate areas, called cages, from one to five squares in size. Fill each cage with unique digits, counting up from 1. So for example a 2-square cage contains the numbers 1 and 2; and a 5-square cage contains the numbers from 1 to 5. Adjacent (touching) squares, even ones that touch diagonally, may never contain the same number.

Inaugural chess tournament played at Glenham Elementary School

By Kristine Coulter

Pencils, papers and chess boards and pieces. That is what one saw in the Glenham Elementary School gymnasium on April 21. The room was set up for the inaugural Chess Club Tournament.

The Chess Club has 27 members. The club has been in existence for four years now said Joseph Lopez, a teacher who is the club's advisor.

"You have got to play with someone you have not played with before," Lopez told the students who were taking part in the tournament. The tournament started on April 19. There were five matches. Three matches were held the first day and two the second day.

"Are we ready? Thumbs up," Lopez told the students.

The first 30-minute match began.

The students, about 30 to 40 percent who knew a little bit about the game when the 10-week session began, according to Lopez, were concentrated and focused.

"They're just having fun. They're being kids," said Lopez, who noted they talked about etiquette and sportsmanship.

Ben Gilleo, a Beacon High School senior, assisted with the running of the tournament.

"This is one of the coolest things I've ever seen," Ben said. "It gets young minds problem solving. It elevates you – makes you better."

As for what the 17-year-old would advise the players, Ben said, "Be positive in your moves. Think before you make them."

Eli Gilleo, a fifth grader, was one of four at the leaders table. This is his first year in the club.

"I like how you can develop strategies. I like how you can think really hard," said Eli about chess. He mentioned that chess helps the players "use their brains more and it's just relaxing."

Fifth grader Manasvi Gupta, who was playing against Eli, said she just learned the game this year. "I like how you have to use your mind for the moves."

Minndee Gilleo (mother of Ben and Eli), who was volunteering, said "I love the fact that they're doing the tournament. It's so great."

"I couldn't have done it without everyone's help," remarked Lopez.

Cassandra Orser said the tournament is "a perfect culmination of Chess Club." She said was also another opportunity to invite parents into the school.

One parent who was there at the tournament was Robert Williams. He was watching his son, Elijah, participate.

"I've always tried to teach him how to play. He decided he wanted to play and beat me – he's beaten me a couple times," said Williams. He noted, "I think it's awesome. It is more opportunity to take electronics out of children's play and learning. It can only enhance their success going forward."

Michael Werba, a third-grade teacher, said "From the beginning until now, I'm really impressed with the camaraderie."

Werba has a 3D printer and made chess pieces as part of the awards, which included trophies and medals. Each participant received a certificate. There were four awards given for sportsmanship, Lopez noted.

Lopez remarked that all did "a wonderful job learning the game of chess."

"We especially would like to congratulate Finn Woolston, Preston Bennett, Ayvianna Olvera for all winning Best Sportsmanship awards, and Manasvi Gupta for 4th place, Marcus Brooks for 3rd place, Antonio Molina for 2nd place. We are also proud to announce that Eli Gilleo took 1st place and is the very first Glenham Elementary Grandmaster Champion! Congratulations," said Lopez.

Above, Elijah Williams gives a thumbs up to the chess tournament. Right, some of the awards and chess pieces are set a table.

Toll rates on local bridges May 1

NYSBA) is reminding Hudson Valley drivers of new toll rates set to take effect at midnight on May 1. These rates are part of the Authority's four-year, phased-in toll revision that was initiated in 2020. Tolls are collected while traveling east-bound on the Authority's five toll crossings: the Bear Mountain, Newburgh-Beacon, Mid-Hudson, Kingston-Rhinecliff, and Rip Van Winkle Bridges. As part of the Authority's recent conversion to cashless tolling, all tolls are paid through E-ZPass or Tolls by Mail NY.

The new rates are the third phase of a four-year, phased-in toll revision on the spans operated by the Bridge Authority. Starting in 2020, the Bridge Authority began an incremental increase in toll rates on May 1 of each year, with the final phase set to take effect on May 1, 2023. Passenger cars with E-ZPass, which make up the majority of customers, see an increase of $0.10 each year during the toll revision. The new toll rate schedule was approved in early 2020 after a lengthy public review and regulatory process.

The following rates will be effective from May 1 through April 30, 2023:

- Cars, Pick-ups & Motorcycles (2 axles, Less than 7'6") will pay $1.55 with E-ZPass or $2 for Tolls By Mail
- Commuter Plan (Passenger vehicles only, minimum of 17 trips each month), $1.30 with E-ZPass
- Class 2 (2 axles, more than 7'6"), will be $5.70 with E-ZPass or $7 with Tolls By Mail

The Authority receives no operating funding through state or federal tax dollars, with nearly all of its revenue coming through tolls. Tolls are reinvested back into capital improvements on the Authority's spans, ensuring these critical pieces of infrastructure can continue serving the Hudson Valley for decades to come. Most notable among these projects is the replacement of the deck on the north span (carrying westbound traffic) of the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge, which is approaching its final stages and expected to be substantially complete by fall 2022. Information on the toll revision and the recent conversion to cashless tolling is available on the Authority's website at www.nysba.ny.gov.

The Melzingah Chapter of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution (NSDAR) and Chapter Regent Joan Miskell hosted its Spring Luncheon in honor of Denise Doring VanBuren who will soon be completing her three-year term as the 45th President General of the worldwide service organization of 190,000 members. More than 75 guests attended and heard about Van Buren’s DAR journey, including her current position as the highest-ranking official in the NSDAR. President General Van Buren spoke of many of the activities and achievements of the society during her administration.

“I joined Melzingah Chapter on October 11, 1988 – and as I look back, I realize that it was one of the most important decisions of my life,” said Mrs. Van Buren. “I recognize now that DAR membership provided me with a platform to express my love of country, participate as an active citizen of our democracy within a republic and, of course, make wonderful friends. I often say that you will meet the most amazing women if you become actively involved in our wonderful organization.”

In 1954, members of Melzingah Chapter saved Madam Brett Homestead, the c. 1709 home of Catheryna Rombout Brett, from its demolition - after plans for a local supermarket in its place had been announced. Widowed at a young age, Madam Brett would remain in what was then wilderness - of what had been New Netherlands only a few decades earlier – to raise her three sons on the 28,000 acres of land she inherited from her father.

Madam Brett’s homestead would remain in the family for seven generations, and her descendant served as quartermaster during the American Revolution. As a result, the home was visited by Washington, Lafayette and other important figures of the Revolution. Melzingah has operated the Homestead as a house museum for seven decades, and it provides the local organization a great deal of visibility and engagement in its local community of Beacon, New York. Tours are currently offered second Saturdays through December.

DAR members come from a variety of backgrounds and interests, but all share a common bond of having an ancestor who helped contribute to securing the independence of the United States of America. Any woman 18 years or older, regardless of race, religion, or ethnic background, who can prove lineal descent from a patriot of the American Revolution is eligible to join. If interested in membership, please email Melzingah’s Registrar Nancy Giordano at savgeorgia@aol.com with a subject line of DAR Membership.

Exhibit celebrates 100 years of Jewish life in Beacon

Louis and his wife Helen Becker Ritter were married 69 years. Louis was a supply officer in England. After WWII he went in business and opened the Louis Ritter Insurance Agency in midtown Beacon.

An exhibit celebrating 100 years of Jewish life in Beacon is currently on view at the Beacon Historical Society. The exhibit, which showcases a number of Jewish businesses that thrived in Beacon over the last century, will continue through the end of April. Please visit their website for hours and information. Admission is free. <https://www.beacon-historical.org/calendar-of-events>.

In addition, The Jewish Beacon History Walk will continue for approximately one year. The free guided walking tour provides an interactive map of the many Jewish businesses that were once located along Beacon’s Main Street. See <https://www.jewishbeaconhistory.com>.

Jacob and Sarah Ritter (photo as shown) first arrived in Beacon in 1920 and opened the Beacon Laundry that same year. The laundry continued to operate for approximately two decades. Their son, Louis Ritter, took over the space shortly after returning from WWII and opened the Louis Ritter Insurance Agency. Since he had worked in the laundry growing up and subsequently established his own business in the exact same location, he would often say, “I never left home.” The insurance agency continued for sixty years serving the Beacon community and the greater Hudson Valley. Many of the employees of the Agency were local Beacon residents.

The businesses currently operating at the site of the original Beacon Laundry include Lord of the Strings and The Pacha Barbershop Unisex. Other businesses which are currently operating on Main Street on sites originally built and owned by Jacob Ritter include: the Beacon Wellness Pharmacy, Eat Paint Love, the Arthur Wood Gallery, Beacon D’Lites Gift shop, the Beacon Performing Arts Center, and the Beans Cat Café.

Jacob also owned another large building on Main Street which his son Leo Ritter ultimately sold to the City of Beacon and today houses The Howland Library.

Edward Frederick Hahn

POUGHKEEPSIE – It is with deep sadness that we report the passing of Edward Frederick Hahn. He was a great presence in our lives, and we shall forever miss him. He was always there for us. He was born in Baltimore, Maryland, to Edward A. Hahn and Hildegard Schneider Hahn. His family later moved to Catonsville, Maryland, where they lived for many years. He attended Baltimore Polytechnic Institute, and while there he managed the swim team and wrote a column on the popular music of the day for the school newspaper. His tastes in music were actually varied, from Dave Brubeck and the Modern Jazz Quartet to Louis Armstrong and Turk Murphy, to Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, especially the Ode to Joy section. He was fond of Sousa marches, and would play the Stars and Stripes Forever at full volume, with the doors open, on the Fourth of July. His favorite hymn was Ein Festeburg, or A Mighty Fortress Is our God. In high school he also was a member of DeMolay. After graduating from "Poly," he attended the Whiting School of Engineering at Johns Hopkins University, earning his Bachelor of Science degree in three years. His fraternity brothers knew him as "Smilin' Ed." In 1956, he was hired by I.B.M. in Poughkeepsie, where he worked for 37 years, much of that time in management. Following his career at I.B.M. Ed was a part-time photographer, working for the Djirdjirians and doing some wedding photography. After that, he worked at Ham Central, a local business selling amateur radio equipment. Amateur radio was a long held interest for Ed. He volunteered in communications for the Red Cross for more than fifteen years, and was the recipient of letters of thanks from President George W. Bush and from President Barack Obama for work in communications after Nine Eleven. He taught classes in amateur radio for fifteen years to those wishing to obtain their novice/technician licenses. Ed used to enjoy helping to monitor the cross-country races at Marist, and liked very much helping to monitor the Empire State Games when they were held in the Hudson Valley. He also served as a monitor at the annual Water Derby on the creek, and sometimes joined other observers on the Pumpkin Patrol at Halloween. Several years ago he served as recorder, tape editor and announcer for Sunday services at a local church for broadcast on local radio. He also volunteered for a couple of seasons at the Vanderbilt Mansion's gardens. Ed was a member of Chelsea Yacht Club, from whose dock he liked to sail his red Sunfish out on the Hudson River for some quiet times. He and his family made yearly trips to the beach at Rehoboth, Delaware, during many summers. I.B.M. sent him on working trips to San Jose, to Paris and Montpelier, France, and to Stuttgart, Germany. He went twice to Baton Rouge, Louisiana, to interview for the company at Southern University. Ed was an instructor at Fort Monmouth for the U.S. Army Signal Corps and was in the active reserve for some time after that. He was for several years active in the Military Affiliate Radio System as AAR2JB. His civilian call sign was WC2J, as he held an Extra license. He was a marksman and liked to hunt and fish occasionally, but preferred target shooting. The family members wish to express their deepest thanks to all those who gave great care and consideration to Ed: Doctors Weinreich, Varanasi, Kanteros and Intwala and the nursing staff at The Heart Center; Doctors Foster and Rubinstein and their staff at Hudson Valley Primary Care; and to the kind, wonderful staff at The Pines -- we can never thank them enough for all they did. His survivors include his wife Valerie; children Lise Christine, Anne Elizabeth, and Edward Andrew; a sister Hildegard Suter of Maryland; a cousin, Dr. Richard Engroff and his wife Peggy of Maine; and several nieces and nephews. He was predeceased by his cousin Nancy Gould; sisters-in-law Judith Mahoney and Joan Baker; brothers-in-law George Suter, Edward D. Henstebeck and James W. Holt, and many old friends and colleagues. If he knew you at all, he likely thought of you as a friend. Services will be private and at the convenience of the family. Arrangements are under the direction of the Timothy P. Doyle Funeral Home, 371 Hooker Ave., Poughkeepsie, NY 12603. To send online condolences, please visit our website at www.doylefuneralhome.com.

STATE OF NEW YORK SUPREME COURT : COUNTY OF DUTCHESS ----- In the Matter of the Foreclosure of Tax Liens by Proceeding In Rem Pursuant to Article Eleven of the Real Property Tax Law by DUTCHESS COUNTY ----- The above-captioned proceeding is hereby commenced to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes or other lawful charges which have accumulated and become liens against certain property. The parcels to which this proceeding applies are identified on Schedule “A” of this Petition, which is annexed hereto and made a part hereof. This document serves both as a Petition of Foreclosure and a Notice of Foreclosure for purposes of this proceeding. Effect of Filing: All persons having or claiming to have an interest in the real property described in this petition are hereby notified that the filing of this petition constitutes the commencement by the Tax District of a proceeding in the court specified in the caption above to foreclose each of the tax liens described by a foreclosure proceeding in rem. Nature of Proceeding: This proceeding is brought against the real property only and is to foreclose the tax liens described in this petition. No personal judgment will be entered herein for such taxes or other legal charges or any part thereof. Persons Affected: This notice is directed to all persons owning or having or claiming to have an interest in the real property described in this petition. Such persons are hereby further notified that a duplicate of this petition has been filed in the office of the Commissioner of Finance, the Enforcing Officer of the Tax District, and will remain open for public inspection up to and including the date specified below as the last day for redemption. Right of Redemption: Any person having or claiming to have an interest in any such real property and the legal right thereto may on or before said date, redeem the same by paying the amount of all such unpaid tax liens thereon, including all interest and penalties and other legal charges which are included in the lien against such real property, computed to and including the date of redemption. Such payments shall be made to the Dutchess County Commissioner of Finance, 22 Market Street, Poughkeepsie, NY 12601. In the event that such taxes are paid by a person other than the record owner of such real property, the person so paying shall be entitled to have the tax liens affected thereby satisfied of record. LAST DAY FOR REDEMPTION: THE LAST DAY FOR REDEMPTION IS HEREBY FIXED AS JULY 29, 2022. Service of Answer: Every person having any right, title or interest in or lien upon any parcel of real property described in this petition may serve a duly verified answer upon the attorney for the Tax District setting forth in detail the nature and amount of his or her interest and any defense or objection to the foreclosure. Such answer must be filed in the Office of the County Clerk and served upon the attorney for the Tax District on or before the date above mentioned as the last day for redemption. Failure to Redeem or Answer: In the event of failure to redeem or answer by any person having the right to redeem or answer, such person shall be forever barred and foreclosed of all of his or her right, title and interest and equity of redemption in and to the parcel described in this petition and a judgment in foreclosure may be taken by default. ASSISTANCE The State encourages you to become informed about your options in foreclosure. In addition to seeking assistance from an attorney or legal aid office, there are government agencies and non-profit organizations that you may contact for information about possible options, including trying to work with your lender during this process. To locate an entity near you, you may call the toll-free helpline maintained by the New York State Department of Financial Services at 1-800-269-0990 or visit the Department's website at <http://www.dfs.ny.gov>. FORECLOSURE RESCUE SCAMS Be careful of people who approach you with offers to save your home. There are individuals who watch for notices of foreclosure actions in order to unfairly profit from a homeowner's distress. You should be extremely careful about any such promises and any suggestions that you pay them a fee or sign over your deed. State law requires anyone offering such services for profit to enter into a contract which fully describes the services they will perform and fees they will charge, and which prohibits them from taking any money from you until they have completed all such promised services. We are attempting to collect a debt. Any information obtained will be used for that purpose. Pomona Grange to host ‘Tales of Mark Twain’ at Stanford Grange Hall

What better way to spend Mother’s Day Weekend than by taking her to the theater - the Grange theater, that is.

“Samuel Clemens: Tales of Mark Twain” will be performed by writer/performer Joe Baer at the Stanford Grange Hall, 6043 Route 82, Stanfordville, with two performances - Friday, May 6 with an evening performance at 7 p.m. and Saturday, May 7 with a matinee performance at 2 p.m. Tickets for both shows are only $15 per person.

“Samuel Clemens: Tales of Mark Twain” tells the story of Samuel Clemens’s life, taking the audience on a journey that reflects how life and story become one. The story unfolds beginning with Clemens’s rough childhood, evolves with his adventures as a steamboat pilot on the Mississippi, his western escape from the Civil War, and leads to his success as Mark Twain, writer and lecturer. The performance wades with the ebbs and flow of Clemens’ life and ends with reflections that bring the story full circle.

This 1 hour 40-minute production has one intermission and is narrated by Joe Baer as Samuel Clemens, told in the context of the nearly eight decades in which he lived. The performance is peppered throughout with passages and numerous sayings culled from Mark Twain’s many humorous works, in front of a backdrop of historical visual projections. Act 2 includes condensed passages from Clemens’s masterwork “Adventures of Huckleberry Finn.”

Total proceeds from these shows will benefit the Dutchess County Pomona Grange #32, a county unit of the National Grange, the nation’s oldest community service organization with a basis in agriculture.

Celebrating its 125th year of service to Dutchess County, the Dutchess County Pomona Grange hopes to raise money for their annual scholarships for Grange members in Dutchess County pursuing higher learning and for those specifically going into the fields of agriculture or education.

With the COVID-19 pandemic, opportunities to raise scholarships in the last two years have been curtailed.

Doors open one half hour prior to show time. Tickets may be purchased at the door, electronically through eventbrite.com/e/samuel-clemens-tales-of-mark-twain-tickets-249858803407, or by calling 845-868-7869 and leaving a message.

For more information, contact Pomona Grange Secretary Ryan Orton at 845-868-7869 or visit www.BaerhandsTheater.com.

Sounds of support: Towne Crier to host Ukraine benefit concert

By Kate Goldsmith

“With the horrors going on in Ukraine, the Towne Crier and friends are making a community statement to show our support for Ukrainians on Thursday, April 28, with music and guest speakers,” said Phil Ciganer, owner/operator of the Towne Crier Cafe in Beacon.

Several notable performers from around the Hudson Valley are scheduled, including David Amram, Tom Chapin, Aaron Parks, Joe Louis Walker, Vanaver Caravan, Dylan Doyle, John Sebastian, and Annalyse & Ryan – plus special guests.

The show begins at 7 p.m., and there is a minimum suggested donation of $25, with proceeds to benefit humanitarian efforts in Ukraine.

Tables will only be reserved for dinner guests; call 845-855-1300 for reservations.

The situation in Ukraine resonates deeply with Ciganer, who was born in Moldova, an Eastern European country and former Soviet republic, just after the end of World War II.

“It’s a part of the world where I was born but never knew firsthand,” he said. “My parents experienced a similar situation [as Ukrainians do now] after World War II. They found themselves fleeing on foot, living in detention camps ... I was the infant you see the mothers carrying.

The Towne Crier Cafe in Beacon will host a fundraising concert on Thursday, April 28, to support humanitarian efforts in Ukraine. Performers include Tom Chapin, Joe Louis Walker (photo by Arnie Goodman) and Annalyse & Ryan.

They just literally walked from Moldova to Genoa, Italy.”

Ciganer’s family “jumped an ocean freighter to Cyprus,” he said, and eventually settled in Israel, later moving to the United States when he was a pre-teen.

Keynote speakers at Thursday’s event will include Beacon Mayor Lee Kyriacou as well as Natalie Pawlenko, President of Ukrainian National Women’s League of America (UNWLA).

Ciganer said the Mayor will be out of town, but he’ll make a virtual appearance via Zoom.

Kelly Garcia, one of the event organizers, lauded the work of UNWLA. Garcia is not affiliated with the organization but noted its focus on supporting women and especially children.

“There is much more money needed there than we could possibly raise [with the concert], but we’d like to do our part,” said Ciganer. “This is more of a consciousness raising event, from the Beacon community, [letting Ukrainians know] that we stand with them.”

“Oftentimes, we do get a little hung up on [wondering] will our efforts really help? And I sincerely believe that they do, that every little bit helps,” Garcia said. “It’s a significant group that’s coming together, and a testament of Phil’s integrity in the community.”

The Towne Crier is at 379 Main St. in Beacon. Visit www.townecrier.com for more information.
